The last major hurdle for the proposed initial Foreign Trade Zone building at the Tri-City Regional Port was successfully cleared Tuesday with the approval of a $600,000 grant sought by the Madison County Board.

The building is to be 600 feet by 200 feet with a height of 20 feet.

Of the total approved under the federal government's Urban Development Action Grant program, $400,000 will go toward the construction project and related facilities and

Granite City voters Tuesday re-elected Street Superintendent Lionel Portell and four incumbent aldermen but turned down the re-election bids of Aldermen Gerald "Jerry" Parmley in the Sixth Ward and Ron Coleman in the Seventh Ward.

New aldermen are Paul Fisk, who defeated Willard Herzog and Chris vonNida in the Third Ward; Mac G. Warfield, who topped Parmley and Ross Halbrook in Ward Six voting; and Mike E. Modrusic, who tallied more votes than Coleman, George Gordon and Leo Six in the Seventh Ward.

Re-elected were Everett Morlen in the First Ward, Sam Whitmer in the Second Ward, Warren L. Decatur in the Fourth Ward and Mrs. Margaret Nonn in the Fifth Ward.

Portell was retained as street superintendent over street department employee Clayton "Jug" Harrison by a vote of 4,441 for Portell to 3,616 for Harrison, a difference of 825 votes.

Portell won in five of the city's seven wards, trailing Harrison only in the First and Sixth Wards.

First Ward totals were: Morlen 336, William "Bill" Dallas 205, Harvey Scarsdale 57 and Bill Werthen 42.

Second Ward voting: Whitmer 615 and Joseph McGinness 431.

Third Ward results: Fisk 704, Herzog 431.

$200,000 will be devoted to rehabilitation of housing in this area.

The announcement was made in Washington by Congressman Melvin Price of the 23rd District.

Happiness over the action was voiced by Port Manager Carl Ranft, Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and Mary Kane, the county's Community Development director.

Ranft said the general framework of construction agreements has been approved by the Port District board, and it will meet in a few days to ratify specific contract documents.

Work may be started at the site in May by Contractor Ralph Korte of Highland, and the structure is to be completed later this year.

Foreign Trade Zone 31 is located within the port's 127-acre industrial park, adjacent to the Chain of Rocks Canal and Illinois Route Three, 15 minutes from downtown St. Louis by way of the McKinley Bridge.

The local port has a complete range of public terminal facilities and services for handling liquid bulk, dry bulk, general cargo and containerized freight shipments.

The Trade Zone is served by the Illinois Terminal Railroad, which has switching agreements with other rail lines. The building will include truck docks.

The 120,000-square-foot structure to be erected by Korte will include a section designed as a trade zone, in which federal duty payments are not applied until after assembly or storage.

The structure will have a six-inch concrete floor with tilt-up concrete wall construction. It will be fully insulated, heated and lighted and will have a sprinkler firefighting system.

GEORGE KNECHT

Knecht will head drive

A United Steelworkers of America AFL-CIO-CLC representative, George J. Knecht, will serve as the fall 1979 Tri-Cities Area United Way general campaign chairman.

The USWA affiliation is with the American Federation of Labor, Congress of Industrial Unions and Canadian Labor Congress.

The United Way appointment and announcement was made by Paul J. Costello, president of the local United Way.

A native Granite Cityan, Knecht served as United Way general campaign vice-chairman in the fall of 1978, chairman of the United Way nominating committee, and member of the UW Budget and Allocations Committee. He is a member of the United Way board of directors.

In addition to his duties as staff representative, Knecht also serves as community services coordinator for USWA District 34, and is based at the USWA Sub-District Office in Granite City.

"The extensive United Way involvement and growing personal commitment which George displays represent a big plus for those who need and use United Way Agencies and services — especially the less fortunate, who need all the help we can provide within our means and TCAUW-approved programs," Costello said.

Last year's general campaign chairman, William Donovan, said in announcing Knecht's vice-chairmanship appointment, "1978 can be the beginning of another growth era, the potential for a great renewal of our

Madison schools oppose housing

The Madison Board of Education, at a special meeting Monday evening, unanimously voted to oppose a housing development being considered for the City of Venice.

The Klein and Bissell streets 8.94-acre site is in the Madison school district.

The board instructed Superintendent John L. Patchett to write the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Chicago.

The letter stating the board's position read as follows:

"The City of Venice Section 8 Housing Development complex of 136 units is located in Madison School District 12. The Madison Board of Education is objecting to this type of housing development."

"It would cause us very serious financial problems necessitating the

Write-in winner

BARBARA HARRELL

Mrs. Barbara Harrell and George Tyus Jr., a write-in candidate, won seats on the Venice Park Board in Tuesday's balloting.

Mrs. Harrell, a clerical employee of the Madison County Sheriff's Department, tallied 423 votes to defeat Enrique Lopez for a six year term on the park board. Lopez had 325 votes.

Mrs. Harrell is the daughter of Venice Fourth Ward Alderman Oscar King and is the wife of Venice Patrolman James Harrell.

In balloting for the four-year term on the board, where the Rev. John W. Ratcliff was the only candidate on the ballot, write-in campaigns were launched for Tyus, who teaches at Harris School, and for Nick Modrusic.

Tyus won with 338 votes to 241 for Modrusic and 72 for Rev. Ratcliff.

The winner had been a candidate early in the campaign, having filed his petitions in the race for the six-year term, but he withdrew in time to have his name removed from the ballot. The write-in campaign for the four-year term then began.

Votes tallied in precinct one, the southern portion of the park district, were: Mrs. Harrell 70, Lopez 318, Rev. Ratcliff 54, Tyus 58 and Modrusic 281.

Votes in precinct two were: Mrs. Harrell 253, Lopez seven, Rev. Ratcliff 18, Tyus 286 and Modrusic, zero.

Morris stresses that "Venice has a great future" and says that if elected mayor he will:

1. Develop a sound financial base for the city.
2. Keep taxes as low as possible.

THIEF SCARED AWAY

At 6 a.m. today a thief entered the residence of Charles Voloski, 1608 Seventh St., Madison. While the thief was standing at a table going through a purse, Mrs. Voloski came from the bedroom, saw him and yelled for her husband. The thief fled through the front door and escaped. Approximately $15 in cash was taken from the purse.

procedures were voiced by Lopez during voting Tuesday afternoon, Park District Attorney Harry E. Hartman said Wednesday he has received no official complaints through the election judges. However, he added, there was a potential for problems because the Madison County Clerk's office is alleged to have failed to provide lists of registered voters to the poll judges.

"I am employed as a Class II sewage treatment works operator by the Metro East Sanitary District.

"I attended the Madison public grade and high schools. I also attended Southern Illinois University," Echols relates.

"I have dedicated myself to guide Venice in the right direction, to attempt to put the city back into a fiscally stable position.

"I feel my six years as an alderman has given me a good foundation to accomplish this.

"I now serve as chairman of the aldermanic Bridge, Insurance and Building Committees. I serve as a member of the aldermanic Police, Ordinance and Sanitation committees."

He adds, "I feel a mayor has to be flexible, and be able to render fair and firm decisions."

"I would hope that whoever is victorious in the April 17 election will not be blinded by petty prejudices and will work toward whatever is best for the entire city."

"I hope that the somewhat strained relations between the council, and the citizenry as well, will be reconciled and that the people of Venice will go forward and stand strong together."

"I would also like to apologize for any inconvenience to the city employees and the citizens caused by the Council's lengthy deliberations on the acting mayor position."

"I suppose everyone voted their convictions and, unfortunately, the situation resulted in a deadlock finally resolved by the courts."

"I feel we publicized how well we could split now. I hope after the April 17 election we will show how well we can stick together."

schools, park district, county and state. 4. Recognize and tap the "many valuable resources of talent present in civic and community groups."

5. Encourage communication with all citizens.

6. Treat everyone with fairness and respect.

7. Provide the leadership that the office of mayor demands.

8. Develop industry locally to provide industrial jobs.

9. Develop training opportunities to upgrade the skills of the work force.

Morris comments, "Every citizen of young age has a civic duty to cast his or her ballot for the future of this city."

"I am asking every voter to take a personal interest in not only voting but helping a neighbor to vote."

"Venice is at the crossroads. We must either lift ourselves from the brink of disaster or wallow in the despair that has happened to many of our neighboring cities. It is my prayer that every voter will study and analyze all three candidates—their past record and their potential for future leadership."

"When you enter the voting booth, think of what you want for the future of your home and family and cast your ballot for me to insure that future. Independence and dignity for our senior citizens is one goal that is paramount in my plan for the future."

need of funds to operate the district. "Our bus transportation cost last year went up 40 percent. This type of multi-family housing development would cause almost a doubling of our transportation budget."

"The increase in enrollment would dicate the need for more classroom and teachers at a time when we have consolidated buildings. We have four public housing developments already in the district. What we need is more single-family housing."

"Please give serious consideration to

"The major problem the city is confronted with now is an eroding tax base."

"The industry that exists now is continually going before the Board of Review and asking reassessments, which produces less taxes for our city to operate with. We would also have to look at our budget and see if there are areas where it is feasible to save."

"The riverfront is one of the areas to be considered for business introduction and expansion."

"We now have a consulting firm retained to explore the feasibility of a housing complex and a civic center to be located on the approximately nine acres of city-owned property located at Klein and Bissell streets. I foresee reserved space in this center for the senior citizens as well as activities for the youth."

"I feel that as a responsible city official, it is my duty to work diligently with everyone to provide for the success of the entire city. I hope the voters will make me their choice in the mayoral election. We have much to accomplish and I pledge myself and my energies to this task," Echols concluded.

Morris established the Milnor Manufacturing Co. steel fabricating firm in Venice in 1948 and it has been active in providing equipment for the construction industry. He was a volunteer and organizer for construction of the American Legion Post 307 Boy Scout building, establishment of the Our Lady of Fatima Shrine at St. Mark's Catholic Church, and remodeling of the OATH training center and workshop.

Morris views the Venice riverfront as "our greatest undeveloped resource." He concludes that he will seek additional permanent industrial jobs for residents and will encourage small businesses locally owned and staffed by Venice labor.

Governor's school funding plan is inadequate—Cronin

"Six very fine-sized school districts were forced to eliminate more than 200 staff positions last month," State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin said Tuesday. He released summaries of decisions made by the Alton, Evanston, Urbana, Wilmette, Springfield and Carbondale school districts. Granite City and Venice also have authorized staff reductions.

"The governor's $81 million simply won't allow schools to maintain quality programs," Dr. Cronin stated. "The actual amount of new money is even less than $81 million when one considers that $27 million is lost for state teacher pension payments."

The State Board of Education has reaffirmed its support for a proposed 1979-80 fiscal budget that calls for $16 million in new funds. However, the board reduced its request by $5 million after being advised of an expected decline in elementary and secondary school enrollment.

The State Board also reluctantly adopted a plan to reallocate funds on the basis of established priorities, should the Thompson spending level of an $81 million increase be maintained.

Dr. Cronin said the governor's recommended increases for schools will "not even keep pace with the rate of inflation and will provoke deep cuts in local education services."

procedures were voiced by Lopez during voting Tuesday afternoon, Park District Attorney Harry E. Hartman said Wednesday he has received no official complaints through the election judges. However, he added, there was a potential for problems because the Madison County Clerk's office is allowed to have failed to provide lists of registered voters to the poll judges.

Jim McPike of the 56th District.

Assembly of the Greater St. Louis steward of International Union of member of New Hope Chapter 22, the Children's Home and Aid Society, a member of the Treehouse East Day Care Advisory Board, a former member of the Blair School Parents Club, and a commissioner of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

"I am employed as a Class II sewage treatment works operator by the Metro East Sanitary District.
"I attended the Madison public grade and high schools. I also attended Southern Illinois University," Echols relates.
"I have dedicated myself to guide Venice in the right direction, to attempt to put the city back into a fiscally stable position.
"I feel my six years as an alderman has given me a good foundation to accomplish this.
"I now serve as chairman of the Building Committees. I serve as a member of the aldermanic Police, Ordinance and Sanitation committees."

He adds, "I feel a mayor has to be flexible, and be able to render fair and firm decisions.
"I would hope that whoever is victorious in the April 17 election will not be blinded by petty prejudices and will work toward whatever is best for the entire city.
"I hope that the somewhat strained relations between the council, and the citizens as well, will be reconciled and that the people of Venice will go forward and stand strong together.
"I would also like to apologize for any inconvenience to the city employees and the citizens caused by the Council's lengthy deliberations on the acting mayor position.
"I suppose everyone voted their convictions, and, unfortunately, the situation resulted in a deadlock finally resolved by the courts.
"I feel we published how well we could split now, I hope after the April 17 election we will show how well we can stick together.

9. Develop training opportunities to Morris comments, "Every citizen of this city has a civic duty to cast his or her ballot for the future of this city.

"I am asking every voter to take a personal interest in not only voting but helping a neighbor to vote.
"Venice is at the crossroads. We must either lift ourselves from the brink of disaster or wallow in the despair that has happened to many of our neighboring cities. It is my prayer that every voter will study and analyze all three candidates — their past record and their potential for future leadership.
"When you enter the voting booth, think of what you want for the future of your home and family and cast your ballot for me to insure that future.

Independence and dignity for our senior citizens is one goal that is paramount in my plan for the future."

need of funds to operate the district.
"Our bus transportation cost last year went up 40 percent. This type of multi-family housing development would cause almost a doubling of our transportation budget.
"The increase in enrollment would dictate the need for more classroom and teachers at a time when we have consolidated buildings. We have four public housing developments already in the district. What we need is more single-family housing.

"Please give serious consideration to

"The major problem the city is confronted with now is an eroding tax base.
"The industry that exists now is continually going before the Board of Review and getting reassessments, which produces less taxes for our city to operate with. We would also have to look at our budget, and see if there are areas where it is feasible to save.
"The riverfront is one of the areas to be considered for business introduction and expansion.
"We now have a consulting firm retained to explore the feasibility of a housing complex and a civic center to be located on the approximately nine acres of city-owned property located at Klein and Bissell streets. I foresee reserved space in this center for the senior citizens as well as activities for the youth.
"I feel that as a responsible city official, it is my duty to work diligently with everyone to provide for the success of the entire city. I hope the voters will make me their choice in the mayoral election. We have much to accomplish and I pledge myself and my energies to this task," Echols concluded.

Governor's school funding plan is inadequate — Cronin

"Six very fine-sized school districts were forced to eliminate more than 200 staff positions last month," State Superintendent of Education
Joseph M. Cronin said Tuesday. He released summaries of decisions made by the Alton, Evanton, Urbana, Wilmette, Springfield and Carbondale school districts. Granite City and Venice also have authorized staff reductions.
"The governor's $81 million simply won't allow schools to maintain quality programs," Dr. Cronin stated. "The actual amount of new money is even less than $81 million when one considers that $27 million is taken out for state teacher pension payments."

The State Board of Education has reaffirmed its support for a proposed 1979-80 fiscal budget that calls for $166 million in new funds.
However, the board reduced its request by $5 million after being advised of an expected decline in elementary and secondary school
enrollment.
The State Board also reluctantly adopted a plan to reallocate funds on the basis of established priorities, should the Thompson spending level of an $81 million increase be maintained.

Dr. Cronin said the governor's recommended increases for schools will not even keep pace with the rate of inflation and will provoke deep cuts in local education services."

Seek bids on soccer-baseball fields lighting

Bids for lighting for the soccer and baseball complex on Fehling Road at Granite City High School South are being sought and will be opened at 3 p.m. Thursday, May 17, the Granite City Council agreed last night.

The council, seated as the town board, approved a request from Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer that bids be sought immediately. Federal revenue sharing grant funds are to be used to finance a portion of the cost of the new lights. There also have been public contributions.

The funds will be put in the township's 1979-80 fiscal year budget, which is due for adoption May 15.

The bids are to be opened publicly in the township supervisor's office, 2060 Delmar Ave.

community's commitment."

Costello added that "with George Knecht's leadership in 1979, we can truly build further on the legacy which Bill Donovan and those before him have given us."

Accepting the appointment "with enthusiasm, total commitment, and recognizing the need to continue the growth of privately-supported United Way human service agencies and programs," Knecht responded by emphasizing "the need to implement further the Campaigning to Potential Program" recommended at the 1979 annual meeting of the Tri-Cities Area United Way by President Costello.

The proposed program, Knecht said, "can be a significant effort toward increasing campaign results. It calls for specific attention to be directed away from 'what is' or 'has been' toward the more important and very positive 'what can be' in the future."

Continuing, Knecht said, "From this perspective and the application of proven leadership principles used by all successful organizations, businesses, industries and institutions, the plan formulated last year by Bill Donovan's campaign team was to personally involve this community's top labor, professional and corporate leadership deeply, effectively and continually.

"Performance can be more meaningful and effective if it can be measured against established standards."

"Such standards are established through growing acceptance and implementation of the United Way fair-share-giving awards program."

"Campaigning to our actual fair share giving potential is an important step in meeting United Way community goals for improved operation and funding of needed and validated United Way services, agencies and programs."

"The possibility of widening gaps between available private United Way contributions and the UW volunteer budget allocation committee funding recommendations could become serious if solutions are not continuously attempted."

"Private citizens, through voluntary contributions, have a tremendous opportunity to place private philanthropy into the very 'front lines' of human service programs throughout America."

"Our local United Way organization offers us an immediate challenge and opportunity to take positive actions which will help propel private philanthropy and privately funded service programs to heights and levels of service delivery well beyond the present."

"Some have, for many years, been critical of tax spending. We have alternatives. We need only to take advantage of them."

"The Tri-Cities Area United Way, in seeking fair share and plus giving, provides us with a major avenue for strengthening philanthropy and, our local community services."

"Campaigning to Potential can be an important action directed toward meeting the future responsibilities we have to one another, and which can be met through true joining together for the common good of the community where we live, work and grow," Knecht concluded.

So by the time you go on vacation, the interest you've earned may be enough to pay for an extra special souvenir—or maybe even an extra day or two of getting away from it all.

And when you save in advance for your vacation, coming home is more pleasant, too—because you won't have a lot of vacation bills to face.

But saving for a vacation takes time—enough time for your money to grow. Why not start today? If you put it off any longer, your vacation may have to be shorter.

Donation for bleachers and other North improvements

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer
George Gavlick addressed the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night on behalf of North High's Boosters Club, announcing that the club has a $20,000 donation available to improve facilities at the school.

He requested permission of the board members to proceed on a program of items, selected as priorities to be installed in the gymnasium, beginning with additional bleachers to seat, 1,200 people at a cost of $22,000.

Other improvements on the list are swing-away baskets for the gym, $3,000; a covered walkway from the school to the gym, for approximately $10,000; and a fence for the athletic complex — installed by the members at an estimated cost of $3,600 or installed by the supplier, $12,000.

Gavlick added that funds other than the donation will be secured by the Boosters Club to continue improvements based on a long-range plan.

Board approval was unanimous and Donald Stucke, board president, complimented the Booster Club for its efforts in improving GCHS North and providing the funds.

The board also accepted a gift from the Vocal Music Department at North High to purchase new robes at a cost of $12 per robe, and from the Namecki School PTA for a $300 desk calculator with a read-out tape for use at Namecki School.

Approval was given by the board for the GCHS South Leader Athletic Club to take a float trip at the Twin Rivers Landing June 1 and 2; the Science Club at North to take a trip to Twin Rivers May 18-20; and the Home Economics Club at South High to take a recreational trip to the Lake of the Ozarks April 27-29. There will be no cost to the district for any of the student trips, it was noted.

The resignation of Cassie M. Johnson, a Mitchell School teacher, effective June 1, was accepted.

Three teachers for special education classes for the 1978-79 school year were hired. They are: Carla Ziff, reading impaired; Judy Ward, multiple handicap; and Ann Hildebrand, trainable handicap.

Shortages of faculty members in those categories were cited in the hiring action, which follows a decision to reduce the district's teaching staff by 65 to 75.

Tim Boyd, representing Washington School parents, presented signed petitions requesting that Washington not be closed until more information is gathered relating to the needs of the children who are to be transferred for the next school term. The board has decided to close that school and McKinley and Stallings.

The board approved a request from Sharon Melton, of the McKinley School PTA, that the fence enclosing an area on Iowa Street across from the school be removed and used at Webster School, at a cost to the school district.

In her letter to the board, Mrs. Melton noted that funds for the fence purchase in 1978 were provided by the PTA. Since the school is to be closed, the parents feel the fence should be installed at Webster, where many of the McKinley students will be assigned.

Administrative costs too high, candidate says

David Partney, in his latest campaign for election to the Granite City School Board, today reviewed administrative costs of the district.

He said the 1978-1979 administrative salaries totaled $1,162,985.

Partney comments, "I have been critical of the unbusinesslike manner of the expenditures in various fields."

"It is my contention that local business with the same level of employees and business could not sustain these inflated administrative costs."

Partney is a candidate for election to the Granite City School Board on April 14. His comments on expenses in the past have included travel and convention costs, secretarial expenses and telephone expenditures.

SELF-DEFENSE TECHNIQUES are demonstrated to Explorer Post 10-33 by Mike Genovese (left), first-degree black belt, and Karen Hayes, second-degree brown belt, both of Granite City. Both are members of the Black Belt Karate Association.

Post studies self-defense

Members of Explorer Post 10-33, sponsored by the Granite City Police Department, were instructed in self-defense techniques by two members of the Black Belt Karate Association at a meeting held at the City Hall.

The association is under the direction of nationally-ranked martial arts mid-dleweight Robert Biggs. The instruction was given by first degree black belt Mike Genovese and second degree brown belt Karen Hayes of Granite City.

Tae Kwon Doe is the major emphasis of the association. The 21 boys and girls of Post 10-33 in attendance and four guests from Highland

Law Enforcement Post 3911 were shown the distinction between tournament karate moves and more practical "street" moves.

"The simplicity and results of the street moves really got the attention of the group," according to Officer Fred Hoffman.

On Saturday, Post 10-33 will participate with other scouts in the citywide cleanup day. It will be working out of the headquarters located at the First Granite City Savings & Loan, 1529 Johnson Road, to assist in numerous capacities.

On Saturday, April 14, a series of car washes conducted by Post 10-33 will begin, to raise money for planned activities this summer.

Post 10-33 will be washing vehicles at the Yates Mobil Station located, Nameoki and Pontoon roads, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 14, May 12 and June 9. Tickets, good for a car wash on each date, are being purchased from members of Post 10-33 for $5.

Post 10-33 is the only coed law enforcement post in the Quad-Cities and meets on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at the City Hall in Granite City. Guests are being invited to the next meeting April 11 at 7:30 p.m. to hear Sheriff Emil Toffant.

The sheriff will discuss some of the new programs he has begun and how they are working out.

GRIGSBY BAND FIRST AND FIRST SUPERIOR

The Grigsby Junior High School band, conducted by Vivian V. Raffaele, received two first superior ratings and one first rating in the district band contest during the weekend in East Alton. The band is in Class A and is eligible to advance to the state contest on Saturday, April 28.

VANDALIZE CAR

Vandals caused extensive damage to the auto of Clarence O. Linton, 26 Fairway Estates, Arlington Heights, parked at his home last week. All four tires were slashed, seats and the interior were cut, the vinyl top was damaged and a chemical was poured on the paint, damaging it.

His research efforts will be based in Cuzco, Peru and LaPaz, Bolivia. Prof. Warfield has conducted similar research in Guatemala and Mexico. Warfield is a graduate of Granite City High School South. A registered architect, he headed the design department at S.R.G.F. Architects in Champaign and taught at the National University of Bolivia before assuming his position at the University of Illinois.

In 1972, he was named a Francis J. Plym Fellow. Warfield is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Warfield, 2010 Lindell Blvd., Granite City.

BICYCLIST IS HIT

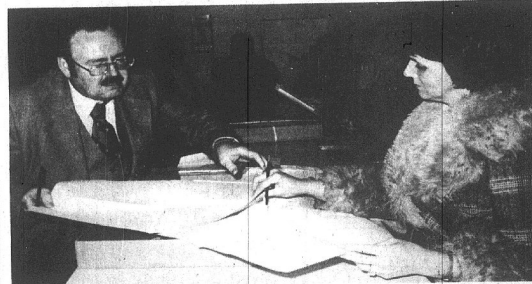

Six-year-old Steven Morgan, Collinsville, escaped serious injury when he and his bicycle were struck by the westbound auto of Harold Rush, 2707b Center St., in the 2400 block of St. Clair Avenue at 4:50 p.m. Saturday. Rush said the bicycle entered the street from in front of a parked car and he did not see the boy until it was too late to avoid striking him and the bike. The boy's mother said she would seek medical treatment later.

Dotzauer speaks for students

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

One of the most active student leaders at Eastern Illinois University at Charleston is Don Dotzauer, of Granite City, who is noted for presenting students' viewpoint in his numerous activities on campus. "Because his views are important," he says.

Dotzauer, a 1975 graduate of Granite City High School, South, will graduate from EIU in May. He is majoring in accounting.

At Eastern, he is a resident assistant and a member of the Student Senate and Council on Academic Affairs.

He serves as student chairman of the Inter-collegiate Athletics Board (IAB) and is the first and only student to be appointed to the Admission Committee of the Council on Academic Affairs.

The latter committee by EIU President Daniel E. Marvin. As one of four student members on the Inter-collegiate Athletics Board, Dotzauer, along with the other members, advises President Martin on inter-collegiate athletics.

Last semester, Dotzauer served as executive vice president of the Student Body and was influential in reinstating the golf team to the school's athletic program.

"I have a particular interest in the athletic program and athletics, so the IAB is important to me," Dotzauer said.

He was appointed chairman of the IAB at the start of the current semester by Student Body President Bob Buckley.

In this position, Dotzauer said he hopes to speak out more for the students, as he intends to do in all the positions he holds.

"With the IAB, I want to establish more accountability as to where student athletic funds are going, because I feel we have the best athletic program in Division II," Dotzauer said.

"If you can help a couple of people working through these committees, it makes it all worthwhile," he added.

Dotzauer did not seek a second term as executive vice president, as he believes he now has the resources to help out more in the senate.

There was no specific reason why he didn't want to continue in an executive position this semester.

Dotzauer said, noting that "one can only push so much" and being a student senator involves a lot less time than the executive post required of the busy senior.

"I just felt I had done my job," he commented.

DON DOTZAUER

The young man worked for the Granite City Park District in several capacities during the summer months and while he is a high school student, including the job of supervisor of the park softball program.

He also was employed at a Tri-City Grocery store in a part-time position.

3 agencies may merge

Governor James R. Thompson proposed by executive order Friday the combination of three agencies into a new Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, effective Oct. 1.

The governor said the new combination can "strengthen the state's ability to provide services and incentives to stimulate industrial and commercial growth, boost employment and assist the development of communities." Under Thompson's executive order, filed with the Senate and House, the following agencies will be consolidated:

1. The Department of Business and Economic Development.
2. The Department of Local Government Affairs (DLGA), except for the Office of Financial Affairs and the Property Tax Appeal Board, which are to be moved to the Department of Revenue.
3. The Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development.

Upgrade girls athletics, cut back boys programs

The Granite City School Board on Tuesday night approved cutbacks in athletic programs for the 1979-80 school year.

It adopted an administrative recommendation which cited "the present financial situation of the school district and the impact of Title IX," the program that seeks to equalize athletic opportunities for girls and boys.

"These recommendations represent a definite cutback in the present boys athletic programs in order to upgrade existing girls athletic programs to such a level that is believed they will comply with the rules, regulations and spirit of Title IX compliance," a report said.

"It is believed these cutbacks and upgrading of girls programs can be achieved with the same budget allocations as approved for the 1978-79 school year.

"Although this does not represent a dollar-discount in the budget, it does provide for additional girls programs at a fixed monetary expenditure of the 1978-79 school year.

"These changes have been discussed with junior and senior high athletic councils and coaches. Not all have been in total agreement, but it does reflect the general opinion that it is preferable to cut back than to eliminate at this time."

Ray Richardson killed in fire

Raymond U. Richardson, 66, a former Granite City resident, was overcome by smoke and died in the pre-dawn fire Monday at Straughan's Wayside Inn, a retirement and boarding home in the rural area near Farmington, Mo. He had resided there one and a half years.

Larry Linsemeyer, an investigator for the fire marshal's office, said the fire apparently started in an attic above the kitchen. He added that he was not ruling out the possibility of lightning causing the electric wiring to spark.

Twenty-five persons died in the fire of smoke inhalation.

Mr. Richardson was born in Granite City and lived in this area until he was 16. He also lived in Hillsboro, Ill., and he served in the U.S.

Air Force for 13 years. He worked as a construction worker for the Illinois State Highway Department. Mr. Richardson was a member of VFW Post 1306 in Hillsboro.

Survivors includes three daughters, Mrs. Andrew "Ma" (Judith) Griffith, Granite City, Mrs. Leslie (Karen) Hodder and Mrs. Leslie (Sandra) Mayes, the latter two of Broadstairs, Kent, England; one son, Raymond Lee Richardson, Springfield, Neb.; his mother, Mrs. Courtney (Moreen) Richardson, Granite City; a brother, Leonard Richardson of Troy, Ill.; seven grandchildren, and nieces and nephews.

Another son, Courtney Richardson, died in 1978.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Water woes

MISSISSIPPI RIVER FLOODING is an annual concern for those living or owning property near the river.
At the upper left is a roadway — from the Chain of Rocks Canal levee onto Chouteau Island near Gabaret Slough — which is covered with water and impassable.

riverfront from the top of the Venice boat ramp. Venice's McKinley Bridge is in the background.

At the lower left is the car of Harold Marshall, a Chouteau Island resident. The vehicle is sunken in a lake which was dry land until a few days ago. The levee which protects the island on the other side of it can be seen in the background behind the temporary "lake."

At the lower right is a stairway at the water company pumping station on Chouteau Island which now leads into water. A plank has been placed for employees to walk on.

Most job offers go to engineers

College graduates looking for their first job will get more offers at higher salaries if they are engineers than any other bachelor degree candidates, according to the College Placement Council's March report.

David R. Van Horn, director of SIUE University Placement Services, said CPC figures show more than half of all offers this year for graduates with bachelor's degrees have gone to engineers, and petroleum engineers continue to lead the salary averages at $1,788 a month.

The trend continued at the master's level. Chemical engineers brought the highest salary offers of $1,748 a month, a seven percent increase since July. Electrical and mechanical engineers and geology related science graduates averaged $1,675.

For non-technical students, business and science graduates with bachelor degrees drew more job offers than last year, but humanities and social science degrees showed a nine percent decline in demand and the lowest salary offers of $911. Only the master's in business administration, combined with a non-technical undergraduate degree, and master's in mechanical engineering and mathematics showed slight gains.

Graduates with the doctoral degree got 23 percent fewer offers, too limited a number to establish a salary trend.

Van Horn said most of the jobs came from increased recruiting by manufacturing and industrial employers, led by aerospace-electronics-instruments companies. Federal and state governments showed increased recruiting in the public sector. The survey is based on offers, not acceptances, made to students in 161 U.S. colleges and universities, including SIUE.

Burglar alarm fee increase opposed

By MICK STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer
The Madison City Clerk said Tuesday night they plan to do everything possible to block a proposed telephone company monthly rate increase to $22 for each private burglar alarm line.

Most business firms are connected by the alarm system to the City Hall. At a Council meeting, Mayor Sasyk said he had just learned of the proposed increase and feels it is not justified.

"When we started the burglar alarm project in 1975, the minimum charge was $2 and the maximum was $4."

"Two years ago, the telephone company increased the charge to a $9.20 minimum monthly. The company has very little cost, and we do all the maintenance. Is the phone company trying to help crime or stop it?"

"I would like the council to authorize me to speak, along with our legal counsel at the Illinois Commerce Commission hearing when it is scheduled. This is totally unfair and a hardship on our business community."

The council unanimously agreed with the mayor.

A report on major crimes indicated a decrease of three percent in March 1979 compared to March 1978.

The comparison, with the March 1978 figure first, is as follows: criminal homicide 0-1, forcible rape 0-1, robbery 0-0, assault and battery 11-6, theft 12-14 and auto theft, 5-4. Razing permits granted during the month, reported by John Dutko, building inspector, were for 820 Grand Ave., 1653 Market St. and 1449 Collinsville Ave.

Attorney Casper S. Nighossian reported to the council that at the next meeting there will be several resolutions calling for condemnation of more properties. A letter was read from the Chicago Northwestern Transport Co. allowing a railroad spur to cross the property near the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park and connect with Southwestern Steel. There is no cost to the city for the spur, which is being paid for by Southwestern. Fifth Ward Alderman

Donald Garrett complimented the street department for work done in the ward, and in particular the removal of a dangerous tree that was about to fall on two houses.

FIND STOLEN TRUCK

The truck of Jerry Green, Hartford, stolen from the Granite City Steel parking lot at 16th Street and Madison Avenue between 11:30 p.m. Friday and 8:10 a.m. Saturday, was recovered by District Four police in St. Louis about 9 a.m. Saturday.

Arthur Wilson succumbs

Arthur Wilson, 58, of 2602 N. 17th St., East St. Louis, was pronounced dead at his home at 4 p.m. Tuesday by a St. Clair County deputy coroner. There will be an inquest to determine the cause of death. He had resided there for four years and was unemployed. He was well known in the Madison area. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Amalee Wilson, and one son, Junior Wilson, eight, residing at home. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

BRYAN BURGLARY

A $359 stereo and a speaker were stolen from the apartment of Harvey Good, 2107 Bryan Ave., between 8 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 a.m. Sunday. A ladder was believed used to enter an unlocked second floor window.

State action on nuclear plants

Governor James R. Thompson moved on three fronts this week to see that nuclear energy plants in Illinois do not "create a problem like the one in Pennsylvania." He described Illinois as "the leading nuclear state."

1. Asked Chairman George Ray Hudson of the Illinois Commission on Atomic Energy (ICAE) to form an ad hoc committee to review Illinois' seven nuclear reactors to determine if a potential exists for such an accident to occur in Illinois.

2. Directed that Michael Hasten of the Illinois Commerce Commission, Director Paul Peterson of the Department of Public Health and Director Frank Beal of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources to work with the ad hoc committee.

3. Directed that E. Eric Jones, director of the Illinois Emergency Services Agency, and Dan Webb, director of the Department of Law Enforcement, meet with him to review the state's preparedness and evacuation plan in the event of a nuclear accident.

Hudson responded by appointing an ad hoc review committee consisting of Dr. Philip Gustafson of Argonne National Laboratory, Dr. J. B. Van Erp, of Argonne; Dr. George Miley and Professor Daniel Hang of the Nuclear Engineering Department at the University of Illinois, and Gerald R. Day, executive director of the ICAC.

"We want technical experts to go over our nuclear reactor plants in Illinois with a fine-tooth comb to make sure that we're not in any danger of experiencing the same kind of problem that Harrisburg currently is," Thompson said.

"Seven operating nuclear power reactors owned and operated by Commonwealth Edison Co. are providing electrical energy primarily to the Chicago area. Illinois Power Co. is building a nuclear reactor in the Clinton area."

"None of them are of the same design as the one for Three-Miles Island in Pennsylvania."

Road closing for 15 months

Persons planning to visit Frank Holten State Park in the East St. Louis area are being advised that a segment of Pocket Road, which provides public access to the park's west entrance, has been closed to traffic for the next 15 months to allow construction of a bridge carrying that roadway over Interstate 270.

When completed, I-270 will bisect the park.

The closed segment is between Illinois Rt. 157 and the park entrance. Traffic may circumvent the area by using Lake Drive, Ill. Rt. 157, Ill. Rt. 15 (Missouri Ave.) and Park Road.

However, the park, its west entrance, and its other entrances will remain open during construction of the bridge.

PASSENGER HURT
Miss Carol Arner, 19, of 2717 W. 22nd St., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for observation after being injured in an auto accident at 2:20 p.m. Friday at 19th and Benton streets.

She was a passenger in the auto of Owen Kolfelt of West Granite City which collided with the auto of Sam Ayres, 1637 Second St., Madison. She suffered numbness to her face and pain to her right thigh and back.

JESSICA PICKETT
Guest Speaker

Jessica Pickett to speak here

The Christian Science congregation in Granite City is sponsoring a free public lecture on Sunday, April 8.

Members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., have asked Jessica Pickett of Chicago, a member of the denomination's board of leadership, to speak in the church edifice at 3 p.m. next Sunday.

Advance materials point out that an important aspect of Christian Science is the belief that God's power can be brought to bear practically in each person's day-to-day life, including the healing of disease. Miss Pickett's talk, called "Individualizing God's Power," hinges on this point, it was announced.

The lecturer has been a Christian Science practitioner for more than 20 years. As such, she joins Christian Science practitioners around the world who are God's power alone for the healing of those who seek their help through prayer, local church members noted.

A portion of Miss Pickett's lecture is devoted to the role of gratitude in prayer. She states, "One of the most spontaneous ways we individualize the infinite power of God in our lives is through gratitude. Gratitude in its highest sense acknowledges divine law, the supreme, absolute power of God."

Mrs. Jeannette James will introduce Miss Pickett. A nursery will be provided for children too young to attend the lecture.

'Long Alternatives'

Anne-Marie models an alternative

Anne-Marie comments on the Lion's Mane's care for long hair.

"Women with long hair usually do not want to have their hair cut, so the Lion's Mane has alternatives. For me — well, I was conventional — long and straight hair. My stylist, KAREN DEEN, gave me a style which calls attention to me . . . and it's worth it! Besides, I like to experiment with my hair.

"I believe the Lion's Mane has alternatives for women with long hair . . . ALTERNATIVES are at home at the Lion's Mane."

What did you do at club, Mom?

Serious business had to be taken care of and the ladies of the Pontoon Beach Lioness Club were seeing to it. It was only after the meeting's purpose was fulfilled that silliness took over.

With the business meeting adjourned, the noise level in the small room began to climb. The evening's entertainment was to be an exercise in creativity, and the ladies were ready to try their hand.

The club's president, Charlotte Fowler, has been into cake decorating for some time.

On that particular evening, Lioness President Fowler was going to have her "birthday girls" decorate their own cakes, and the rest of the girls were to decorate smaller "birthday" monuments in cake and icing.

The excitement began to build as the cakes were brought in. "I am going to cover mine with roses," declared Lioness Patty McCart. "You will have to put the frosting on first," answered Lioness Fowler. Soon all of the ladies had the tools and raw materials used in cake decorating in front of them. The first part of their novice venture began.

Frosting a cake is an art-form in itself. Spreading the sweet, sticky icing so that it forms a smooth base for a truly beautiful decorated confection is not easy. Icing tends to do what it will, and tiny little crumbs make coming up with an unpolka-dotted cake most unlikely.

But the Lionesses were determined. If a little less than skilled. It wasn't long before all were prepared, more or less, for the hard part—applying edgings and flowers.

A knife is the standard tool used to frost a cake, but giving a frosted cake a design all its own requires special tools. Those implements were foreign to all of the ladies.

The Lionesses listened as their president explained the strange workings of the icing parchments and tips. She had placed a tray of bags with various types of tips. The ladies, not to be kept in the dark, grabbed up the bags and began to experiment.

It was about that time that Lioness President Fowler completely lost control of the entire Lioness Club. Lioness Patty McCart went slightly bananas and began threatening other members with a flower-making icing bag. Others drew squiggly lines all over their cakes.

Lioness Fowler showed the girls how it should be done. But the ladies preferred to do their own way. The results were interesting, if not totally professional.

The Lionesses were free to express themselves in icing. One lady came up with a beauty that sort of resembled a square drum. Her squiggly lines ran in "V's" up and down the sides of her cake. She seemed to be at a loss as to what to do with the top, so she put a castle of sorts there. It was a masterpiece, done in red, white and blue.

Lioness Fowler gave a demonstration in the making of the lovely roses that everyone wanted for their creations. She made it look easy.

The girls soon found that the doing was much harder than the watching, and most opted for daisies or free-form flowers.

Mistakes were eaten, and one lady, who was determined to have the favored flower on her cake, will most likely never consume icing again.

All in all it was a delightful evening.

The birthday girls had their pictures taken with their decorated cakes and most took the great moment of icing home to waiting children and husbands.

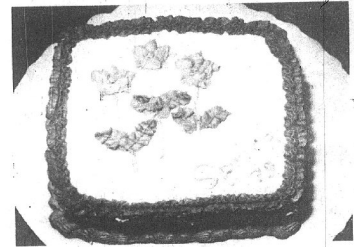

That is what women's clubs are all about—service to the community and a lot of fun. What a nice combination!

Above, Lioness Charlotte Fowler shows the girls how to create a rose. Patty McCart, above left, demonstrates another use for the icing. Glenda Duvall, below left, smooths the frosting onto her cake, trying to avoid crumbs. The cake below is the finished product of an hour's worth of careful concentration.

Why, I took care of business, son . . .

Transportation management plan

At its regular monthly meeting last week, the board of directors of East-West Gateway Coordinating Council adopted a document called the Transportation Systems Management Element.

Transportation Systems Management, or TSM, is a relatively new concept aimed at making more efficient use of existing transportation systems as opposed to building new facilities or making major physical changes.

The plan can include anything from synchronized signals to revised lane striping, from carpooling and vanpooling to flexible work hours, it was explained.

The document describes Gateway's TSM planning process, goals and objectives, and proposed projects. It is a response to "the challenge of maintaining freedom of movement despite dwindling energy supplies and reduced financial resources."

In another matter, the Gateway board endorsed two project applications from the Illinois Department of Transportation.

One project is a $3.25 million grade separation at the intersection of Illinois Route 157 and the Missouri Pacific Railroad in Cahokia.

The second project calls for bridge improvements on Illinois Route Three at the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad just northwest of Columbia in Monroe County. The $1.32 million project is part of the Illinois bridge replacement program.

The Gateway board also endorsed an application from the Metro-East Sanitary District for planning and construction funds for the Lansdowne Water Pollution Control Facilities serving St. Clair and Madison counties. The $443,200 project is to be 75 percent financed by federal funds, with the remainder provided by the applicant. The board endorsed an application from Madison County for $350,000 in Community Development block grant funds. The county proposes to use the funds for housing rehabilitation, street improvements, public facilities and other activities.

VENICE BURGLARY

A money bag containing $150 in cash was among items stolen during a burglary at the home of Thomasine Adams, 2011 Weaver St., Venice, between 4:30 p.m. Saturday and 12:45 a.m. Sunday. A window was opened to gain entry. Also taken was a receiver, a leather jacket and a set of keys.

Matthew 26:40 . . . "And He cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep."

It is amazing that under the circumstances these followers of Christ could be found asleep. If things are going well and life presents no great pressures, we can imagine disciples sleeping. However, Christ has just shared His last communion, has informed His followers that the Shepherd would be scattered. He himself was praying the most earnest prayer of His life! And the disciples sleep!

The disciples heard Jesus speak but His words did not register. We are instructed in Hebrews 2:1 to give earnest heed to the things we have heard. We must pay attention to God's Word! We must not sleep on others do.

The world is in critical shape today. We must pray because we are involved—we are concerned.

Will you help us to watch and pray? Today.

$10 million multi-purpose building plan

Senate Bill 400 appropriating $9,592,000 from the Capital Development Fund and $1 million from the Southern Illinois University Income Fund for construction of a permanent multi-purpose building at SIUE has been introduced by Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville.

By introducing the appropriation at this time, Vadalabene explained, two purposes are intended. The first is to keep development of the project on schedule in accord with understandings reached with officials in state government and at the university. The second is to insure that the university's commitment to use funds from existing accounts can be fulfilled.

Death in popular culture

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of 15 articles exploring "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change." In this article, Robert Fulton and Eric Markusen of the University of Minnesota examine the portrayal of death by the mass media. This series was written for COURSES BY NEWSPAPER, a program developed by University of Minnesota, San Diego, and Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

III. DEATH IN POPULAR CULTURE

By ROBERT FULTON and ERIC MARKUSEN

Despite the widely-held view that America is a death-avoiding and death-denying society, death is a commonplace theme and frequent event in popular culture.

Rather than turning away from the topic of death, we eagerly seek it in the world of entertainment. The primary vehicles of popular culture — television, movies, music and literature — offer us a regular diet of violence and death, a veritable feast of morbidity that we consume with gusto.

Death in the media world differs grossly, however, from death in the real world of everyday life, both as to cause and to consequence.

While people do indeed die violently in the United States and their number is appreciable, most actual deaths involve elderly persons who die in hospitals from such ailments as heart disease, cancer and stroke; on TV or in the movies, death occurs primarily among the young and most often by violent means.

The experience of dying is often profound and death can leave in its wake inconsolable grief and ruptured lives. Personal and social adjustment in the face of such loss are both painful and difficult. These aspects of death have traditionally been a major theme and inspiration for much of the world's great art and architecture, literature and music.

MURDER AND MAHEM.
In marked contrast, our popular culture treats death impersonally while degrading our human responses to it.

Prime-time television shows feature murder and mayhem relentlessly, while portraying only superficially the human qualities of the victims.

Such deaths are further depersonalized by the reports being sandwiched between commercials or other mundane items. Contemporary movies also tend to depict death as a result of violence and brutality in the world. Top-grossing movies like "The Godfather" and "Dirty Harry" are virtual circuses of killing gore.

A recent phenomenon is the "Rocky Horror Picture Show." A midnight movie extravaganza of homicide and cannibalism, it has assumed the character of a social event as crowds of young people, ghoulishly costumed, chant the film dialogue while actors mortally assault the living or violate the dead.

Movies, far more than television, are increasingly explicit in showing violent deaths.

Such films as "Bonnie and Clyde," "Taxi Driver," and "Straw Dogs" depict in color and slow motion the detailed destruction of human beings, eclipsing the meaning of the death itself.

Popular music directed at today's youth also contains a morbid fascination with death. Only a few years ago teenagers flocked to rock concerts to hear Alice Cooper sing "I Love the Dead" while he assaulted a female mannequin or behaved a likeness of himself. Today, his place as master necrophile has been taken over by such punk rock groups as Sex Pistols and Dead Boys.

Similarly, violent death is a staple theme of popular fiction.

Murder mysteries and espionage thrillers compete to devise ever more titillating and ingenious methods of killing the victim.

Currently, we are witnessing a spate of disaster novels in which both our technology as well as nature turn against us in the form of nuclear power accidents and earthquakes or errant comets.

Of course, many, if not most, songs, television shows, movies and novels are concerned with matters other than death and violence. But those that do feature such topics as death or the act of making dead tend to be among the most popular and the most financially successful.

THE FLICKERING BLUE PARENT.

The mass media — especially television — are powerful and pervasive transmitters of our popular culture. Some critics derisively label television as "the glass test" — "the flickering blue parent" — to underscore its significance in the lives of our children.

One study of children's viewing habits reports that the average ten-year-old spends more time watching TV each week than attending classes.

Given the denial and avoidance of actual death in everyday life, television and other media become important sources of death education — for better or for worse.

Significantly, we, as media consumers, are more familiar with death by disaster than we are with death by disease. Children who have never attended a funeral or seen a corpse have seen thousands of killings on television. Most of us know more about how to kill another person than how to treat the dying or comfort the bereaved.

The implications of this disjunction between media death and actual death in the everyday world are as complex as they are controversial.

Critics argue that over exposure to violent death can lead to a paranoiac overestimation of the incidence of violence in real life or to a desensitization to mass violence and death. Such desensitization can have dangerous consequences if it hinders us from taking actual death seriously.

We are reminded of the tragic case of Kitty Genovese, who was stabbed to death near her home while neighbors listened to her screams with apparent indifference.

Why are we drawn to this fantasyland of violence and death in our media? Perhaps it is simply a stimulating contrast to what is commonplace in our lives.

Some psychologists have suggested that we are fascinated and attracted by those things that threaten us the most.

Others claim we are fascinated with violence and violent death because they provide us with an enhanced sense of our own lives — a case in which these and these shall die, but not I.

Finally, there are those who would argue that our attraction is displaced aggression on our part, that such vicarious experiences permit us to discharge harmlessly anger and frustration.

THE COST-BENEFIT DILEMMA.

While there is not as yet a definitive explanation to account for our collective response to death and violence in the mass media, we must weigh the questionable benefits of such entertainment against their individual and social costs.

On the positive side, the mass media can be a powerful means of providing responsible death education. Television programs like "Something for Joey," "Dying," "Death Be Not Proud," and "Holocaust" can teach us much about the realities of death and dying at both the individual and societal level.

Our educational channels can furnish important guidance and support for persons facing death and bereavement by documenting what research on the topic has shown.

Whether the mass media will continue to distort the realities of death and erode our ability to live and die meaningfully — or whether they become valuable transmitters of our vital cultural meanings of life and death — is an issue of crucial import.

This is particularly true since in American society today our attitudes toward death are likely to come from the mass media rather than from a direct confrontation with death.

5 candidates for 2 GC school posts

NORMAN HALL

Norman W. Hall, a candidate April 14 for election to the Board of Education, Granite City Unit District Nine, has resided at 4630 Maryville Road for 12 years. He is 46.

His wife, Kay, is bookkeeper-secretary at the Family Fireproofing Co., a senior at St. Louis University; their daughter, Pamela, a student of interior design at the Apparel Mart, Dallas; their daughter, Linda, is a senior at Granite City High School North; and their son, Steve, is a student at Grigsby Junior High School.

A graduate of Saybrook Community High School, he attended Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, as well as numerous other courses in management, finance and public communications.

A member of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, he has been affiliated with the board of directors of the American Red Cross, United Fund and Chamber of Commerce, and is a past president of the Maryville School PTA and the Kiwanis Club of Granite City.

His hobbies are gardening, fishing, carpentry, automobile restoration and sewing. He is non-partisan, voting "for the person, not necessarily a party."

Ball lists as current issues of importance: "The key issue appears to be the current financial status of the Granite City school system. Those who know me, know I have been concerned about finance for many years."

"This dates back as far as 1974 when I called for the formation of a Priorities Committee to determine how and when we would begin curtailments; in other words, a plan."

"Although this committee never became a reality, it did result in our administration developing such a plan, which has been under our study for several years."

"The decision to close three schools and release the staffs was not a hurried decision. Many weeks, months and years of careful consideration went into it."

"In the interest of the taxpayers, I feel that the support of a tax increase. In the interest of our children, I could not support a cut of courses or activities. This left only the alternative chosen."

"Although this action may not have agreed with all the residents of the area, I am fully convinced it was the best possible action, in the interest of the overall operation of our school system."

"It appears, with the possible future loss of industrial personal property tax revenues, that many more, serious decisions lie ahead."

"Now, more than ever before, our school system needs the guidance of board members who are dedicated, experienced, and possess a deep concern for the community and the schools."

"During the past six years, I have done my best to meet those qualifications. It is now up to the public to decide if I have."

"The verdict is theirs."

ARRESTED IN THEFT

A 12-year-old Venice boy was arrested at his home at 10 a.m. Saturday and faces possible juvenile court charges in connection with a theft at 6:20 a.m. Saturday. Lorraine Sullivan, 1028 College St. Venice, alleged she watched a boy break a window in a shed behind her home and then enter the shed to steal her daughter's bicycle.

CHARLES LUEHMANN

The five candidates for two Granite City School Board positions April 14 include Charles Luehmann, 50, a resident of this area all his life.

He resides at 4512 Edwardsville Road with his wife, Gretchen, and his five children, Lorne, 17, Lisa, 16, Charles, 14, Katrina, 12, and Kurt, 10.

He served two years in the U.S. Army, 1961-63, and has been a farmer since his honorable discharge.

His late member of the Farm Bureau Board for six years and is still an active member of the bureau. He is presently in Eagles Aerie 1126, and is a member of St. John's United Church of Christ. He is an active member of the PTA.

Luehmann feels that the rural area of School District Nine is in need of more and better representation on the board. He says he will serve the community with the children with what he considers more insight and more awareness, as he has five good reasons (his children) for having already taken interest in board actions.

"As we are all aware, those with such an active interest in the fate of our elementary schools are very much aware of how important the Board of Education is to every concerned member of this community, especially the parents of the children who are now, and will eventually be, affected," he comments.

"I feel that the education provided for our children does indeed need to be well rounded; however, how well prepared for this well-rounded education will our elementary children be if they are unmercifully neglected at the elementary level?"

"What the Board is doing now is evident — they are stripping the elementary child of his opportunity to be prepared for his high school years."

"A contributing factor will be the overcrowding of classrooms, which are inevitable unless we do something now. We must keep quality in elementary education."

Luehmann adds, "To represent you on the School Board, elect me if you want to be properly represented, want someone who listens to the people, want someone who cares about your children, and who will keep quality in education."

"The Board of Education is a service for children and not a place where we forget this, the effectiveness of the board is obviously impaired."

"1. Don't sacrifice quality elementary education only to save our huge realm of extracurricular programs."

"2. Don't allow the board to sacrifice the neighborhood schools and encourage busing children out of their communities. The effect of the neighborhood school on your child will be much more lasting."

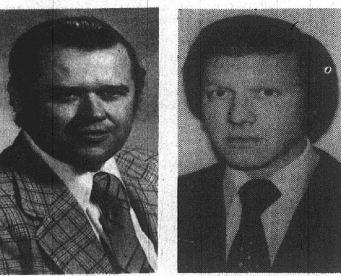

"3. Don't allow the board to overcrowd the classrooms."

"4. Don't sacrifice quality in education for anything less rewarding."

"5. Don't let the rural areas in this district be neglected any longer."

"As a community, we are obligated to provide the best quality education possible for our children."

"Your child can play ball, but can he multiply? Let's keep our priorities in order," Luehmann concludes.

DAVID PARTNEY

David E. Partney, 35, of 2273 Shirlene Drive, a lifetime resident of the Granite City Community Unit School District, is a candidate for the Board of Education in balloting Saturday, April 14.

A board member of the Southern Illinois Industrial Association and active in many organizations, Partney is vice-president of the Granite Sheet Metal Works and the Thomas and Mercer Mortuaries.

His late father, Donald Partney, was mayor of Granite City from 1965 to 1973.

As a businessman, Partney says, he would encourage the board to take stands leading to improved handling of financial and business transactions. "The lax attitude and lack of control by the current School Board demonstrate a failure to apply business judgment, and in a burden to the taxpayers," he has commented.

Partney has cited telephone, secretarial and office construction costs as examples of costs that he believes could be reduced. Also noted are conventions and seminars attended by groups of administrators and board members, rather than limiting attendance at such meetings to one or two individuals who then can relay findings to the others.

Faring increased attention to the "three R's" of writing, reading and mathematics, Partney is running for the School Board for the second successive year.

A former member of the City Animal Shelter Committee, Partney is chairman of the Sewer and Drainage Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Amvets, Moose Lodge 272, Granite City Rotary, Maryville PTA, Tennis Club, 525, Sheet Metal Local Committee and Iron and Steel Engineers.

Partney commented that "schools are nearing a financial crisis, and fat can be trimmed without hurting the education of the children."

"I favor running the schools like a business while giving the students a good education," he said.

"I oppose executive sessions other than for disciplinary or personnel matters. Such sessions discourage people from attending board meetings. Disciplinary problems can be handled before the meetings."

A Granite City Jaycee past president, Partney is a Granite City High School graduate, and studied business management at SIUE.

He and his wife, the former Janet Morris, have two sons, Douglas, ten years old, a Maryville School pupil, and David, four, and a daughter, Denise, two years of age.

Hope Lutheran plans April paper drive

Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave., will have a paper drive April 12-15. The container for old newspapers will be on the church's parking lot behind the church. The public is invited to bring their old newspapers to the container any time during these dates, according to the pastor, the Rev. David Fielding.

DANIEL WOFFORD JR.

With five seeking two Granite City School Board positions April 14, Stephen C. Saltich, 2830 Wayne Ave., is running for re-election. He is married to the former Linda Stawar and has two daughters, Lorrie and Shelly.

"I have supported and encouraged vocational education and special education offerings."

"I have also encouraged improvement of the gifted program, the development of new athletic conferences for senior high school students, and the development of the IX guidelines for both boys and girls."

"I am currently school treasurer on the governing board of the American Steel Foundries United Way program, a member of St. Margaret Mary Church, and the board of directors of the Columbian Home Association, and was recently elected to the Credit Committee of the American Steel Credit Union."

"I believe in maintaining the high quality of education, and if re-elected, I will do all I can to offer maximum support and dedication to our schools," Saltich concludes.

Liver transplant survivor, 33, dies

Dorothy Henderson, 33, who underwent a rare liver transplant last year, died at 2:30 a.m. Saturday at the University of Colorado Medical Center at Denver, it was learned here Tuesday. Dr. Larry Koop, a member of the liver transplant team at the university medical center, said she had rejected the new liver.

She was diagnosed with terminal sclerosing cholangitis, a rare disease causing inflammation and blockage of bile ducts. She was the second person in history with the disease to undergo the transplant.

She had been rushed to the Colorado hospital by air ambulance from Civic Memorial Airport, Bethalto, through the assistance of the Family Service and Visiting Nurses Association.

After a donor was found, surgery was performed March 19, 1978. She returned to be home in Alton in September and was home for Christmas.

As her condition began to worsen, she was hospitalized in Granite City before returning to the Denver medical center March 24. She also had been treated here earlier.

She was employed at Owens-Illinois Glass for five years before her illness. Surviving are her son, Roderick; and a daughter, Deneen, of Alton; her parents, Arthur Henderson of West Helena, Ark.; and four sisters, Betty Holloway, Joyce Elliott and Janice Watson, all of Alton, and Marilyn Glen of Los Angeles.

Also surviving are a stepister, Ruby Madison of Alton; five brothers, Arthur, James and Ernest Henderson, all of Los Angeles, Ethilbert of New Orleans, La., and William Thompson of Alton; and her grandparents, Jim Branch and Vinnie See Robinson, both of West Helena, Ark.

Lennox' reputation for quality wasn't built by skimping on materials.

While some manufacturers have begun using aluminum tubing in their heat pump and condensing coils, Lennox has stayed with proven dependable copper tubing. Copper costs a little more, but the advantages are worth it.
Copper tubing is easier to work with...less brittle...more flexible...makes tight joints. Our tests show copper holds up to reactive elements in the environment much better than aluminum.

Steelers defeat South

GRANITE CITY — The weather was cold here Tuesday, but the Granite City North girls track team really didn't mind.

The Steelers withstood the wind and the cold long enough to run away with the female version of the city track and field championship. North clobbered South 74-57.

North won 11 of the 16 events in the first dual meet of the season for both teams.

The North team of Clara Bates, Pebbles Burch, Dawn Ford and Dana Ollis trimmed South in the 440 yard relay, taking it in :53.8. South's group of Linda Bell, Chris Moser, Tracy Konkovich and Rhonda Reich ran it in :56.7.

South came back in the two-mile run to finish one-two. Warriorette Debbie Burnett won it in 14:14.5 with teammate Darlene Kaempfs second in 14:24.9. North's Sheryl Jamison was the third in 16:16.5.

In the 880 medley, North easily beat South. Bates, Ford, Ollis and Bonnie Williams ran the distance in 2:07.8. South's team of Linda Bell, Reich, Vicki Griffith and Robinson finished in 2:12.0.

Barb Miller of North kept the pace up for North, winning the 220 low hurdles. But she did it just barely, edging South's Sandy Mendoza by two-tenths of a second. Miller's time was :39.2, while Mendoza's was :39.4. Diane Egges of South was third in :39.6 in a near photo-finish.

Bates of North ran first in her third event of the meet when she won the 100 yard dash in :12.7. Teammates Mary Ann Votoupal was second in :12.9. Bell of South was third in :13.2.

The 880 yard run was the property of North's Laura Naler who beat two South runners to the finish. She won in a time of 2:59.4, while South's Sue Burnett ran a 3:02.7, and Dee Kristoff a 3:09.4.

Kathy Kalka, Kristin Wright, Candice Lynn and Lisa Kalka won the 880 yard relay for North. They teamed up to edge South's group of Vicki Griffith, Tracy Konkovich, Donna Stalecker and Joan Parnley at the wire. North's time was 2:07.5 and South's 2:07.8.

In the 440 yard dash, South got some reprieve when Julie DeRuntz won. She had a time of 1:07.4. North's Terri Gieselman was second in 1:12.5, while Peggy Flinn was third in 1:17.9.

South ran another one-two finish in the 110 yard low hurdles. Denise Goode was first in :18.6, while teammate Chris Moser was second in :19.3. Pebbles Burch of North was third in :19.8.

The mile run was really no contest. North's excellent distance standout, Bonnie Williams, ran away from the pack early and was never challenged. In fact, her closest competition came from teammate Tony McCann.

Williams ran the mile in 6:11.7, while McCann was second in 6:22.8. Sandy Schriber was third in 6:46.9. Dana Ollis of North was the winner of the 220 yard dash. She covered the distance in :30.8. South's Vicki Griffith was second in :31.7, while Warriorette Terry Gieselman ran third in :31.8.

North showed in strength in the relays once again in the final running event of the meet, the mile relay. Barb Miller, Votoupal, Lisa Kalka and Burch teamed up for the Steelers and ran a 4:48.2, compared to South's time of :54.5. Members of South's mile relay squad were Darlene Kaempfs, Patty Petty, Sandy Robinson and Julie DeRuntz.

The field events were split evenly between the two schools, South winning two and North winning two.

In the shot put, Lisa Sarich of South headed the group with a toss of 33 feet, six inches. Evelyn Pates and Bonnie Stroder of North, however, managed to finish in second and third. Pates' toss was 29 feet, two inches and Stroder heaved the shot 29 feet, one inch.

South got a one-two finish from the discus throw.

Warriorette Cindy Jakovich won the events with a toss of 94 feet, four inches, with Sarich finishing second at 94 feet, three inches. North's Dawn Ford was third at 84 feet, 11 inches.

North dominated the jumping events. The Steelers won both the high jump and the long jump. Cindy Gallen won the high jump with a leap of four feet, six inches. South's Tina Margherio was second at 3 feet, 11 inches. Darlene Kaempfs was third at the same height, but required more attempts.

Ford of North was the winner of the long jump, easily out-distancing the second-place finisher. She jumped 16 feet, 10 inches. Julie DeRuntz of South was second with 15 feet, three inches while North's Candice Lynn finished third at 13 feet, nine inches.

Both teams will be in action this afternoon, weather permitting.

EDGED AT THE WIRE. Granite City North runner Lisa Kalka (left) heads for the finish line just ahead of South's Joan Parnley Tuesday, at South in the 880 yard relay. Not only did Kalka and her teammates win the relay, they also won the meet, 74-57.

Warriors fall to East, 6-3

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — South's baseball Warriors were like a runner waiting to give that final burst of speed. Only waited too long and didn't have the enough kick at the last.

Bellefonte East's Lancers pulled ahead, too early and beat South 6-3 Tuesday.

It was the Warriors' first game on the road this season and first loss. But like every game the Warriors have played this year, the weather was more suited for scoring goals than scoring runs.

The outing was marked by frustration for South, and it started early. The Lancers starting pitcher, Kent Knebelkamp, seemingly dared the Warriors to score, walking four and allowing two hits in the first three innings.

But the Warriors couldn't take advantage, as Knebelkamp recorded six strike-outs in his three innings. South's assistant coach John Modaka returned to the bench after each Warrior turn at bat shaking his head. "I don't know what this guy's got," He told his drooping team. "Everything he throws is straight."

The Warriors did manage to break on top in the third inning when Jim Thurman led off with drag bunt single for South. The next two Warrior batters were retired on strike-outs, but Jeff Tretter picked his team up with a blop single to left that dropped just inside the foul line.

Madison dominates field and track events in meet

MADISON — The Madison High track team won a triangular meet here Monday with Triad and Belleville Althoff by a convincing margin. The final scores were Madison 79, Triad 53, Althoff 46.

For the first time in a meet this season, Madison was able to come out on top in both the running and field events. The Trojans won 10 of the 18 events in the meet.

But at the same time, Trojan coach Charles Steptoe wasn't exactly pleased with the meet. "I'm glad we won," he said. "But I'm not pleased with the weather. This is our seventh meet of the season. We're almost half way through our schedule.

"But we still haven't had decent enough weather to get good times. It's not helping our health, either."

What Steptoe was referring to was the fact that several of his key athletes are out with colds or flu or at least are slowed down by them. But that still didn't help Triad and Althoff Monday. Just ask Triad's standout runner Greg Pittman.

Pittman, who is one of the top sprinters in the area, found the going a bit rough in head-to-head competition with Madison's Earnest Davenport and Marcus White. The three who had several exciting duels last season, took up where they left off at the state meet last spring.

First it was White's turn. He and Pittman ran neck-and-neck in the 100-yard dash and ended with the same time, a 10.07 on a wet track. The first place was awarded to White. James Heard was third in 10.1.

Then it was Davenport's turn to do a number on Pittman. The Madison sprinter played even with Pittman through most of the 440 yard run... that is, until the back stretch. At the beginning of the final turn, Davenport sprinted away from Pittman and left him in the dust, winning in a time of 53 seconds. Pittman was second in 55.1.

Pittman finally won a race, but it was somewhat tainted. Neither Davenport or White were entered. He won the 220 in :24.09. Madison's Troy Butler was second in :25.09 with Trojan Orlando Buckles third in :26.00.

Girls on upward trend in Illinois

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — March Madness finally came to a close last weekend with the State Girls Finals at the Assembly Hall in Champaign.

While the plush Assembly Hall wasn't exactly bulging at the seams with fans, things are getting better for Illinois' young female athletes in several areas.

This was the final year for the one-class girls tournament. Next year the season will go to a Class A and AA format over a three-day weekend (Thursday, Friday and Saturday). But Jim Flynn, the Illinois High School Association's assistant executive secretary, said that final details for the tourney haven't been completed yet.

The girls, while not yet on a par-interest-wise with the two boys' tournaments, are continually picking up momentum. This year's boys tournaments had 600 press credentials issued by the IHSA... all it had. While the girls tournament had only about 200 requests.

But there was a noticeable jump in attendance. Almost 7,000 people attended each of this year's sessions, while only about 5,000 went to last year's sessions. That's still year's sessions. That's still year's sessions.

Stanley, Salmond on IBCA cage squad

PEORIA — Madison's Kenny Stanley and Venice's Ron Salmond were selected here Monday to play in the fifth annual Illinois Basketball Coaches Association North-South All-Star game here Saturday, July 7. It will be held at Bradley University Fieldhouse here.

The all-star teams are made up entirely of seniors. Stanley and Salmond were picked to the small school South all-star team.

There will be two all-star games. One will pit the best large school players from north and south and the other will feature the best small school seniors (North and South) battling it out.

The four previous all-star games in the IBCA series were held at Illinois State University, Normal.

The selections were made by a panel of coaches and sportswriters who chose 15 players for each team, along with three alternates. Before final selections were made, a committee of coaches.

Coaches for the all-star games will be: Bob Dallas of Ridgeway, small school South; Ed Butkovich of Mount Pulaski, small school North; Dick Van Scyoc of Peoria Manual, large school South; Bill Gleason of Loyola Academy, large school North.

The selections: Large School South: Keith Douglas, Quincy; Johnny Payne, Carbondale; Kevin Bontemps, Morton; Diana Dunson, Bloomington; Dwight Jones, East St. Louis; Lincoln; Darnell Jones, Olney; Gary Kerkemeyer, Collinsville; Andy Kaufman, Morton; Tony Jones, Marion; Scott Prudhoe, East Peoria; Tony Worlds, Centralia; Irv Lukens, Herrin.

Alternates: Mike Bugaleski, Morton; Tyke Puckett, Urbana; Jim Logan, Wood River. Large School North: Isaiah Thomas, St. Joseph; Raymond McCoy, Bloomington; Tyronne Bradley, Phillips; Quinn Richardson, Blue Island; Jeff Baker, Maine South; Bernard Randolph, Westinghouse; Jeff Robinson, Lockport; Darryl Allen, DeLaSalle; Brian Officer, East Moline; Terry

"We're gradually picking up," said Flynn. "Tea from the smaller towns are really into basketball. Just as much as they are for the boys teams."

If there is another phase lacking to the girls tournament, it's television coverage. For the boys, stations all over the state carry WGN-TV (Chicago) telecasts of the boys tournaments. In this area, towns lucky enough to have Cable TV can watch all the games on WGN. But for those of us here in Granite, all we get are Saturday's games, which are picked up in St. Louis by KDNL-TV (Channel 30). In addition, some 10 other stations state-wide pick up the boys tourneys.

But the girls are carried over only WGN-Chicago, and stations in Rock Island, Decatur and Champaign (Saturday only).

"Every game in the girls state tournament is a good one," said Flynn. "That's because you never really know what's going to happen."

In this area, girls' sports are on the upswing. There were few fans at the North-South girls track meet Tuesday, but there are NEVER any fast at boys OR girls track meets.

But nonetheless, the girls braved 40 degree temperatures and gusty winds to do their best.

Granite City has some fine athletes. And they're not all boys, either. Come out and watch. Girls can do more than lead cheers, you know.

PHOTOS: Above — North's Monica Wadlow shows the pain that goes with falling just short in the two-mile run; Upper right — Lisa Kalka of North hands off the baton to teammate Pebbles Burch in the mile relay; Right — Barb Miller of North gets ready to jump the final hurdle just ahead of South's Sandy Mendoza (left) and another Warriorette runner.

It was cold ... but North didn't mind

GRANITE CITY — It was cold here Tuesday. It was VERY cold.

But Granite City North's girls track team really didn't mind too much. You see, the Steeleettes won the city girls track championship here with a 74-57 victory over cross-town rival Granite City South in South's home turf.

The stands weren't exactly packed. But it was noisy anyway. Especially when the Steeleettes mile relay team won. It was the final event of the meet. And it meant that they had won.

For once, it was warm in the North and cold in the South. Both teams were taking part in their first meets of the season. But what a way to kick things off.

She does her best—on and off the court

By NANCY WEIL
for the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — From the minute she walks onto the tennis court until the last point of a match, Christy Cone is obvious to all that is happening around her — with the exception of the task at hand — playing her best possible game.

The suburban-haired beauty has been actively playing tennis for six years and is a self-taught woman. She never has taken a tennis lesson. She first picked up the sport six years ago by walking onto a public park court in Lyons, Ind., which is near to her home in Washington. Considering her level of competition, the fact that she has never had a lesson is surprising, but it also is the main reason behind her somewhat unorthodox style of play.

Cone simply smiles when she is questioned about her individuality on the court. "Well, I read a lot of books on my own, and I just picked it up," she said. During her high school years in Indiana, she participated in team sports such as basketball and volleyball. "When I graduated from high school, it became harder to find enough people to get a game going. With tennis you don't need to have a lot of people," she shrugged.

From simply walking onto a court, Cone eventually read about the sport and watched the pros on television. Her interest soon developed into somewhat of a hobby. "Tennis really started to get popular due to the Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs match," she said, explaining her interest.

Coach Bob Gamble, who had watched Cone develop into one of his top players, sums up her style by saying, "Christy has amazing concentration, and she really runs on the court."

Concentration is the name of the game as far as Cone is concerned. "Tennis is 85 to 90 percent mental. You can't argue with those kind of statistics. Concentration and determination are what counts," she said. The intensity of Cone's concentration is evident in her play — she always tires, up until the final point.

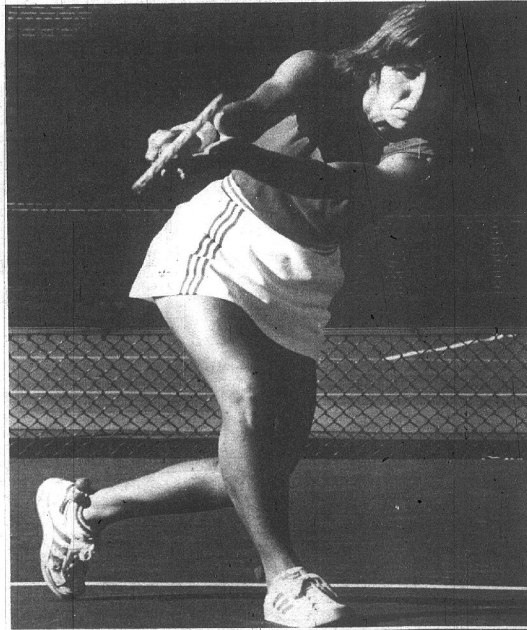

paid off for Cone, who won the Division II singles title in Missouri while playing for UMSL.

Cone, who is married, first came to the St. Louis area two years ago. She finds this area is more tennis oriented than her small Indiana hometown. "The opportunities to play tennis are better here — near a large city," she said.

Her decision to transfer to SIUE came about because she felt that SIUE is more of a tennis oriented school than UMSL. Cone is satisfied with her decision. "I'm developing an overall better game here," she said.

Not only does Cone enjoy tennis here for the sake of the game, she enjoys the closeness that she shares with her teammates. "The closeness on the team helps. I know they are behind me, so I fight harder not only for myself, but for my team," she said quietly.

Cone considers herself a better singles player than doubles but claims that the more doubles she plays, the more she enjoys it. "My strongest point though, is my concentration. I've always had a strong will and motivation in anything I did.

ran in a winning time of 9:16, while Madison's team of Clyde Leonard, Earl Collie, Price and Cecil Cross ran it in 9:19.

The 440 relay was won by Madison in :47.05. Triad was second in :51.02. Madison team members in the event were Troy Butler, Sylvester Collins, Earnest Davenport and Marcus White. The two-mile run was taken by Triad's Kevin Take in 11:06. Second was Triad's Bob Korsort in 11:20.

Darnell Dixon, a Madison sophomore, won the 120 yard high hurdles in :19.0. Wilson of Althoff was second in :19.5.

Price of Madison won the 880 in 2:19.08 and teammate Rich Barney was third in 2:25.

Madison's team of Sylvester Collins, Carlyn Jackson, James Heard and Marcus White won the 880 relay in a time of 1:43. The 330 low hurdles were won by Johns of Triad in :47, with teammate Wilson in second in :48. Collins of Madison was third in :48 also, but the higher finishing spot was given to the Althoff runner.

In the mile run, Triad's Taylor was the winner in 5:08. Cecil Cross of Madison, even though suffering from the flu, still managed second place in a time of 5:16. The final running event went to Madison's group of Heard, Jackson, White and Davenport who ran the mile relay in :54.07.

Madison was shut out in the shot put which was won by Althoff's Trazada with a toss of 44 feet, eight inches. The discus was won by Browning of Triad with a distance of 125 feet, 10 inches. Trazada was second at 120-6, while Madison Jeff Robertson was third at 115 feet.

Sylvester Collins of Madison won the long jump with a distance of 17 feet, 11 inches. Teammate Charles Dixon was second at 17-7 1/2, while Pittman of Triad came in third at 17-2.

Troy Butler of Madison was the inner of the triple jump with a leap of 38 feet. Norman Miller of Madison was second at 35-10.

Madison's Jackson was the winner of the high jump, with a jump of five feet, 10 inches. Kenny Stanley of Madison, who came out for the team last week, cleared a height of 5-6. Madison had no entry in the pole vault.

inning with a two singles and a walk to lead the bases, off Warrior starter Al Yount. Another single an error by South's Taurman, and two sacrifice flys later, the Lancers held a 4-1 lead.

"Al Yount didn't do a bad job," Warrior coach Bob Champion said. "We didn't have the fielding behind him, but I think this was something to do with the weather."

John Boyd replaced Knobelkamp for the Lancers in the fourth, and didn't allow a runner for the Warriors in his two innings of work.

In the meantime, the Lancers scored three additional runs off Linhart in the fourth and fifth. In the fourth, Boyd scored for the Lancers, after he was struck by a Linhart pitch, moved to third after two infield outs, and scored.

Three Council newcomers, five officials re-elected

Granite City municipal voting on Tuesday showed a mixed pattern among the seven wards.

Four experienced aldermen gained new four-year terms on their constructive records—Everett Morlen in Ward One, Sam Whittier in Two, Warren Decatur in Four and Mrs. Margaret Nann in Five.

Two other veteran City Council members were turned out of office. Mac Warfield will replace Alderman Gerald Parmley in Ward Six, and Michael Madrusic will succeed Alderman Ronald Coleman in Ward Seven.

In Ward Three, where Alderman Clyde Bode decided not to seek reelection, Paul L. Fisk won decisively despite a mammoth and intensive election campaign by Willard Herzog.

Challenge—finding a chemical additive for coal gas

There is increasing interest in coal gasification due to Mideast oil uncertainty and due to the Harrisburg, Pa., "black eye" for nuclear power generation. A Wood River site currently is being planned for a $100 million kiln-gas plant which is to convert high-sulfur Illinois coal into a low-pollutant gas.

The following insight is provided by the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign College of Engineering:

There was a time when chimney sweeps were needed to clean the soot out of chimneys polluted by thick, black clouds of dirt which, blackened the surrounding area, and which caused the soot to fall on the roof.

It wasn't until about 100 years ago that engineers cleaned up the situation by developing ways to convert coal to a gaseous form that could be burned without emitting billows of particulate matter.

But before coal gas had time to be adopted for use, oil and natural gas were discovered and quickly became popular heating fuels that eliminated the need for coal. Now that the supplies of these easy-to-use fuels are diminishing, America's 600-year supply of coal is becoming more attractive, and coal gas is once again a popular idea.

Coal gas is relatively simple to produce by injecting steam and oxygen into a chamber filled with coal. This produces an oxidation reaction that converts the coal into hydrogen, carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide and methane. In the form of gas, coal can easily be distributed to homes through existing natural gas pipelines, thus eliminating the messy handling and storage problems previously experienced with solid coal.

The gasification process also eliminates three of the four pollution problems associated with coal combustion.

First, the trace metal pollutants are left as residue in the gasification chamber during the steam injection process. Second, the highly regulated sulfuric oxide pollutants of coal combustion can be easily removed just after the gasification process.

Finally, when coal is burned as a gas rather than as a solid, particulate levels are much lower. However, the one significant problem that keeps coal gas from being the easy answer to the energy shortage is also the one remaining air pollution problem that

Cable TV is approved

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City residents may have 18 television channels and a channel of first-run movies and special sports events available to them by January, due to action by the Granite City Council last night.

The council approved a franchise agreement with Southwestern Cable TV, Inc., to construct underground wires and to offer service for about $7 per month to Granite City residents.

With cable, television offerings are to include Carbondale, Springfield, Chicago, Atlanta, Ga., and others, plus educational, religious and community channels.

In addition to the $7 per month, an option will be offered for pay television. For another $8.50 per month, a channel can be added

Boy hospitalized, seeks cheery cards

Joey Donaldson, a sixth grade pupil at Frohardt School, missed appearing in his school play last night and is very disappointed.

He suffered a collapsed lung Tuesday and was admitted to St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Not only is he downhearted at not performing in the school play after practicing diligently, but the youngster is facing a month's stay in a hospital bed.

Joey, 12, is a victim of cystic fibrosis, the most serious disease affecting children's lungs and digestive systems.

Malignant glands produce an abnormal mucus that clogs the lungs causing breathing difficulties and constant danger of infection, and also prevents the flow of

Colorado truck driver found fatally wounded

Richard Williams, 44, Colorado Springs, Colo., was found shot to death in the cab of his tractor-trailer on the lot of Ray's Truck Stop, Route 3 and Interstate 270, Mitchell, at 7:15 a.m. Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Illinois Division of Investigation said there were no signs of foul play, but the division is investigating to be certain there was no connection between the shooting and a

Re-Act, DeMolays to join scouts in clean-up Saturday

Approximately 1,500 will participate in the 1979 Tri-Cities Area Clean-Up Day, which will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday. Involved in the clean-up project are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, DeMolays and students from Granite City High School North.

The Free Spirits Re-Act Team will have base stations at Pontoon and Nameoki Roads, and 1529 Johnson Road, and many mobile radio units to provide for safety, emergency patrol and communications.

The scouts will be divided into areas and assigned an adult supervisor. Bags for trash to be picked up are provided by McDonald's, which also will provide refreshments for the participants.

Pepsi-Cola Alton Bottling Co. will furnish refreshments and parking locations will be set up in the cleanup areas by Explorers and DeMolays.

Citizen participation in the cleanup effort is being urged, and once the cleanup is cleaned up, it is hoped that area residents will help keep the cities clean, a spokesman said.

In conjunction with the event, a poster contest will help to promote the project. Winners are Anthony Leadlove, of Louis Baer School, Madison, Mike Fleming from Parkview School and Chris Lovel of St. Margaret Mary School.

$8,500 house fire on Ohio

A probable malfunctioning hot water heater is being blamed for a fire at 2222 Ohio Ave. at 1:50 a.m. Tuesday, which caused an estimated $8,500 damage to the building and $3,500 to contents.

No injuries were reported and firefighters were at the scene for one hour and 15 minutes.

The dwelling is owned and occupied by Mrs. Pat Lupardus, who was asleep in the house with her children when the fire broke out.

The blaze started in the area of the water heater, spread up the walls to the attic and then through the rest of the house. A fire department spokesman said,

Study shows air law will cut region's jobs

Enforcement of "the stringent air pollution controls mandated by existing federal law" would result in a loss of 46,010 potential jobs in the bi-state St. Louis metropolitan area by 1995, according to a study released Wednesday by the Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

The detailed study estimated that full enforcement of the 1977 amendments to the federal Clean Air Act also would result in 108,950 fewer residents in the region and $4.5 billion less in total annual output than if present controls were continued.

Results of the study by Rice College, Houston, Tex., were presented in draft form to the metropolitan region's Congressional delegation at a luncheon in the Cannon House Office Building yesterday.

The researchers compared projections for the regional economy assuming the full enforcement of the 1977 amendments with growth in output, employment and population, the additional controls would cause household income to grow more slowly

New plant here if overpass is built

Tentative plans for a $9 million steel-coating firm to move to Granite City as soon as an overpass between West Granite City and the downtown area is completed.

Percey Street were announced at last night's Granite City Council meeting by Mayor Paul Schuler.

Mayor Schuler said there are several problems still to be worked out for the $3.3 million overpass, but he is optimistic that construction bids can be sought this June or July.

One problem is that designs have not been completed, because the state Department of Transportation has not returned a needed overlay to the city.

He said he will talk to State Sen. Sam Vadalabene today about the overpass.

Sen. Vadalabene said he would like to speed the approval of the designs.

Another point is that although about $1.4 million has been approved from the Federal Aid to Urban Systems program, the state has less than $600,000 in its treasury for that account.

The remainder will be available by Oct. 1 and is earmarked for the city.

However, the policy of the Illinois Department of Transportation is not to release any of its money until the matching amounts needed from other sources

Village switches gasoline suppliers as election nears

In what opponents are terming a politically-motivated action, the Pontoon Beach Village Board held a special meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday and voted to take the village's gasoline trade away from the Pontoon Mobil service station and give it to Pontoon Fina.

Charles Henderson, owner of Pontoon Mobil, charged that the action was taken because he is a supporter of Donald Patrick for village board president. Patrick is opposing for the presidency Paul Bennett, a village trustee and former owner of Chagrin Fina, in the April 17 election.

No official notification of the upcoming meeting was given to Henderson. Henderson said he would like to see Henderson to explain the extra $1,800 and Henderson said the village has been billed about 25 times for the extra as the cost of fuel adjustment has appeared on every bill sent the village treasurer.

He also said the village was three months behind on paying its fuel bills, but agreed to pay all but the $1,800 at the special meeting.

Last night, Trustee Duane Skinner delivered a $1,050 check to Henderson as a partial payment for the bill owed and said a bookkeeping error had been responsible for non-payment of the station's recent bills.

Henderson said Skinner apologized for the error, and added that attempts will be made to straighten out the matter by next Tuesday night's meeting.

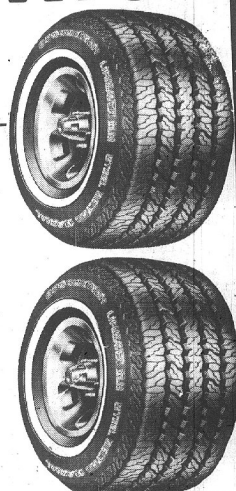

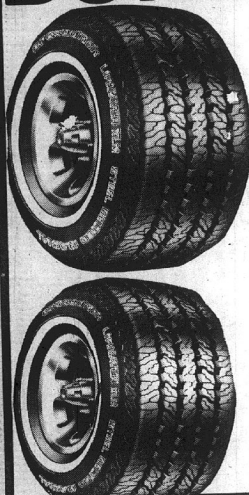

The payment presented last night is for gasoline the village purchased in January and February, but the $1,800 for the fuel price adjustments covering the month of March has not been paid, Henderson said.

BURGLAR TAKES FOOD A basement door at the home of Barbara Hogue, 1739 Edison Ave., was kicked open by a burglar who stole canned corn, peas and carrots, 15 boxes of macaroni and cheese, a dozen eggs and about 50 pounds of meat, valued at a total of $84, she reported at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Banking has changed, but people haven't. Even with the addition of computers and other modern, high-speed bookkeeping systems, people still appreciate the personal contact they have in business dealings.

A friendly business relationship might be old fashioned, but it's still important. Here at the bank, we think our customers and friends (both words mean the same thing here) have a right to expect it. Banking still is a personal thing, and we want to preserve that.

Of course, we're not casual about business. We move your funds in and out quickly, process your checks accurately, and attempt to meet your money needs. And we try to perform every service as if it were the very first. We think it's as good for business as it is for friendship.

If you have a unique financial problem or simply have routine banking business to attend to, come by anytime. You'll be treated courteously and warmly... you can BANK on it!

"CHEAPER TO EAT OUT?" "BULL!"

I had a fellow tell me that he had paid $2.75 for one egg, two pancakes and a cup of coffee the other morning . . . So I got my handy-dandy calculator out and started figuring it out . . . If he had purchased the eggs, pancake mix and coffee at our store it would have cost him less than 25¢. Of course, you do have to take into consideration the time it would take to cook them (which is the same as it takes to wait for them) and the gas or electricity he would use in the cooking . . . So I guess it might run the cost up to no more than 45¢ . . . Which is $2.30 less than he paid in the local cafeteria . . . What if he had taken two or more with him . . . Think about it!

In Memoriam 33

In Loving Memory of MRS. THRESEA NEAGU

our Mother, who passed away

two days ago and her birthday

April 4th, 1979

Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,

A loving heart that knew no guile,

Deep trust in God that did not waver,

Her joy to make some other bright,

One who suffered none she knew,

Some gentle soul of love she'd be,

No thought of self, but of the "I" other."

He said,

"I'll be with you, dear mother."

Sadly missed by Daughter, Irene,

C. Moushaghe, Patricia Ann Devane,

Sons: In Love and Grandchildren.

In Loving Memory of KATHERINE KNACSTEDT who passed away April 8, 1978. Not a day do we forget you are always near. As we loved you, so we miss you at the end of our long year. Sadly missed by Family. 34 45

In Loving Memory of JESSIE M. OLSON

who passed away April 7, 1978.

Sadly missed by Son and Family. 34 45

In Loving Memory of My Husband, JOE

who passed away April 12, 1988.

Sadly missed by friends and relatives and especially by me, Lillian, His Wife. 34 412

The Lighter Side

By CATHEY JAMISON
Press-Record Feature Editor

It's not whether you win, but ...

There is nothing quite as important to a nine-year-old cub scout as his pinewood derby car. Not too long ago, the attention of the entire family was focused on just such a vehicle.

The block of wood that was to become Ross' racing machine entered the house innocently enough. It was placed on a shelf and was only occasionally referred to until that Friday morning. The derby was five days away. I moaned and Ross groaned.

The only idea that he could come up with for his car was that it should be red. No design, no way to cut the block. I really had to get it in gear.

My husband had all sorts of ideas for the block of wood, but we really didn't have time to consult an engineer. I took the block to work with me, hoping that there would be a saw on the premises.

I lucked out. Walter, the all-around helpful person in the shop, came to my rescue. I drew some lines on the block in a pattern I thought looked like a motor vehicle and good ol' Walter cut it on the shop's band saw.

I took what had been magically transformed into a car home with me that night. Everyone was tickled. But, of course, there was a problem. The car was too heavy.

The next day the car, and the family, took a ride to Edwardsville, where another friend came to our rescue. He trimmed and shaved the would-be derby car until it looked a Parnelli Jones special.

I guess you know that the KID is supposed to make the car, but at the time, Mom and Dad were just too involved to allow the child to mess up all of our hard work. Ross was excited. He just knew that his car was going to be the best there.

The car was handed. Ross directed his Dad in the sanding and painting operations and instructed Mom as to where to put the lettering and stripes.

On the day of the derby, the car was ready. Walter started out as a problem turned out to be a family project. We had all had a lot of fun and no one really cared if the car won or not. It didn't win. But that car sits in a place of honor at our house, because we all had a hand in it and that is more important than winning.

VADALABENE OFFICER OF ILL. AUDIT UNIT
State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, Edwardsville Democrat, was elected last week as secretary of the bipartisan Legislative Audit Commission. He is the senior member of the Audit Commission, having been first appointed in August 1971.

The commission is the legislature's watchdog over the fiscal stewardship of state agencies. It reviews all financial, compliance and performance audits of state agencies. This review includes public hearings on over 150 audits annually. The commission also has the power to order special audits and investigations of fiscal irregularities.

Other officers are: Representative Dwight P. Friedrich, chairman; Representative Michael I. Brady, vice-chairman, and Representative Charles E. Neff, assistant secretary.

NEW IN TOWN. Dr. Donald Hull, left, and Dr. Ronald Halstead are working with Dr. Walter Heidke in his chiropractic practice, located at Crossroads Plaza. With the two doctors joining the staff, the office will be open six days a week.

Schools, assessing discussed by group

Discussions of school closings, assessments, certificates of assessments errors and duties of township and county officials were among the activities of the steering committee for a newly-formed Committee for Better Government during a luncheon meeting last week in the Holiday Inn at Edwardsville.

The group, which is open to "anyone" interested in government in Madison County," selected Mrs. Helen Hawkins of Nameoki as chairman of the steering committee.

Mrs. Wilma Bowen, a candidate for Pontoon Beach village clerk and an outspoken critic of upcoming school closings, was an invited speaker. She told the group she feels a school for Pontoon Beach will be necessary in the near future, since the village is expected to grow rapidly when sanitary sewers are completed.

Bev Schuette of the Organizing Committee for Eastern Madison County discussed assessments, multipliers and certificates of error which have been used by some businesses and individuals to obtain lower assessments and taxes.

Mrs. Hawkins reviewed duties of township and county officials to help familiarize those present with "officials have been the obligation to solve which types of problems."

The steering group plans village clerk and an upcoming meeting of the Committee for Better Government when items to be discussed warrant such a meeting, it was related.

Basic pistol training

Twenty local business people will receive basic pistol instruction today at the Granite City Police Combat Firing Range, located at the west end of "E" Street at the Granite City Army Installation.

Those taking the training course are the first ones to register for the initial training session, which is limited to 20. Lt. Col. George C. Teller of the Granite City Police Department said.

A second class may be arranged if others indicate they are interested in obtaining the instruction. Several applications already are on file for a follow-up session, he said, and application forms are available at the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce office, 1831 Delmar Ave.

Detective Kerry "Kip" Pomeroy, recipient of many marksmanship awards at championship meets, will instruct the course.

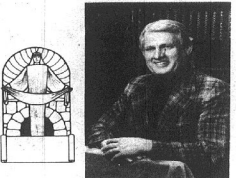

The officer said trainees will provide their own pistols, any caliber up to .45, and a minimum of one box (50 rounds) of ammunition. No magnum or high-velocity ammunition are allowed in the training program, which is sanctioned by the National Rifle Association, under sponsorship of the Chamber and the Granite City Police Department.

BPW presents mat to Specialized Services

Lois Wetton, president of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, today announced the presentation of a physical therapy mat to Specialized Services, 2118 Grand Ave.

She said the club annually sponsors a project to help a local group through its community affairs committee.

Presentation of the mat was made by Juanita Williams, chairman, and Jerry Kane, facility manager for Specialized Services.

Kane explained activities of the sheltered workshop for physically or mentally handicapped persons.

In addition to work projects, ancillary services are provided for those at the facility, he said.

The physical therapy mat donated by the BPW will aid therapy for clients who suffer from physical handicaps, Kane said.

Another area of work for the community affairs committee, Mrs. Williams explained, involves the Oasis Project in Alton, where assistance is given to battered women and their children.

At the present time, the local BPW is collecting clothes for displaced women and children who go to the Oasis for help.

LYDIA KACHIGIAN

Bruce Mort sales manager at Lake View

Bruce M. Mort, 165 Sandy Shore Drive, has been named sales manager for Lake View Memorial Gardens, Belleville, it was announced today by Loran P. Glock, general manager.

Mort, a retired lieutenant colonel of the Army, was formerly with Metropolitan Life Insurance here.

He is active in the Granite City Rotary Club, the Salvation Army and the Tri-Cities United Way.

Student earns scholarship

Lydia H. Kachigian has been granted an academic scholarship in the College of Arts and Sciences of Saint Louis University.

Thomas R. Knipp, dean of the college, notified Miss Kachigian of her selection in a letter last week.

Initially, the award was announced by Louis Menard, dean of admissions at St. Louis University.

Knipp said, "I am pleased that the university has been able to recognize your academic achievement in this way — achievement of which you and your parents should be proud."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amerik A. Kachigian, 2860 State St.

She has indicated an interest in the Department of Chemistry and Knipp noted that Dr. Harold Dieck and Dr. Bruce Kowert, among others, have "developed an outstanding program of undergraduate research."

As a result, "Saint Louis University undergraduate chemists have won an impressive number of state and regional prizes for their research," he said.

Miss Kachigian will graduate this spring from Granite City High School South, in a shortened period of three years.

She is an accelerated "A" student and achieved a high score in the American College Testing program.

POSTMASTER RETIRES. Frank Greenwald, at center holding package, presents Herbert Backs, postmaster of the Granite City Post Office (right of box, wearing suit), with a gift Friday morning from the postal employees on his last day on the job. Backs has been postmaster for the past five years and has served in many varied capacities in the Granite City office for more than 33 years. John Goodman of O'Fallon will be the officer in charge until a permanent postmaster is assigned. (Press-Record Photo)

A SMALL DEPOSIT WILL HOLD ANY ROCKER 'TIL MOTHER'S DAY!!
A NEW CONCEPT FROM TELL CITY

Why didn't they think of it before? All of us know someone who struggles to get up from a low-seated rocker or chair. Someone too proud to ask for help. Now, Tell City has built the help right into this High 'n Easy Rocker! Runners are flatter, have a backstop. So it won't rock back as far. Won't tilt forward when you put weight on the arms. You can push going up, brake going down. Seat is higher, too, so you don't go down as far. It's comfortable, too—with a high back to lean your head against. And curved spindles to fit your spine. Just right for less active people who want a rocker that's less active. Buy it for someone you love. Even if that someone is you.

The High 'n Easy Rocker

- Professionally engineered for less active people.
- Extra-sturdy construction.
- Made of Solid Hard Rock Maple.
